THE NATIONAL POLICE CHIEFS’ COUNCIL (NPCC)

The NPCC replaces ACPO on 1 April 2015. The National Police Chiefs’ Council (NPCC) will help police cut crime and keep the public safe, by joining up the operational response to the most serious and strategic threats. Focussing on operational delivery and developing national approaches on issues such as finance, technology and human resources, it will work closely with the College of Policing, which is responsible for developing professional standards.

Applications are invited from suitably qualified candidates for the following post:

Chief of Staff
Superintendent/Chief Superintendent

Secondment: 2 years
Central London

The Chief of Staff will be accountable for providing strategic operational support to the Chair of the National Police Chiefs’ Council (NPCC) and the NPCC. This will include business and organisational development, development and monitoring of the strategic plan and Annual Delivery Programme, risk management and servicing the NPCC Assurance and Audit Board. The job holder will also be responsible for supporting the NPCC Chair by undertaking research, consultation and developing policy and business cases.

The successful candidate will play a key part in the development of the police service as the new Council becomes established, national policy developed and future operating models determined. The post holder will form part of a small full-time team within the Council’s central London HQ at Victoria Street although the majority of the Council’s work is carried out by chief officers in their home forces.

Decision making will be undertaken within the environment of a new and evolving organisation and while there will be some policy and procedural framework inherited from the previous organisation this will be limited. The job holder must have the knowledge, confidence and skill to lead, influence and advise officers and staff of all levels in the Police Service. This will include working closely with the Chair, the Assurance and Audit Board, Chief Constables’ Council, forces and partner organisations.

Additional Information:

If you have the experience, skills and abilities necessary to fill this unique and challenging post, please see the (attached) role profile. Applicants should have or be willing to acquire SC clearance (minimum). London Weighting will be paid to police officers and Central Service Allowance will be paid to police officers where applicable. All relevant travelling expenses will be paid.

Please note that all applications (attached) must be endorsed by a member of your Force ACPO Command Team. The post is not available on temporary promotion.
